Unit 1: Reading Comprehension: Finding the Main Idea

Learning Objectives

• Students will identify the main idea of a short paragraph.

• Students will distinguish the main idea from supporting details.

• Students will write the main idea of a passage in one sentence of their own.

Key Concepts

• The main idea is what a paragraph is mostly about; the other sentences give details that support it.

• The main idea is often in the first sentence, but it can also appear at the end or be implied by all the details together.

• Supporting details answer questions like who, what, where, when and why about the main idea.

• A good main-idea sentence is short, covers the whole paragraph, and uses the student's own words.

Teaching Methodology (Step by Step)

1. Read a short paragraph aloud and ask: what is this paragraph mostly about?
2. Underline the sentence that carries the main idea and circle two supporting details.
3. Model turning the main idea into one short sentence in your own words.
4. Students read a second paragraph in pairs and write its main idea on a slip.
5. Pairs swap slips and check whether the sentence covers the whole paragraph.

Classroom Activities

• Main-idea match: students match paragraphs to their main-idea cards.

• Detail sort: groups sort sentences into 'main idea' and 'detail' columns.

• One-sentence challenge: students shrink a paragraph into a single sentence.

Assessment Questions

1. Read the paragraph and underline its main idea.
2. Name two details that support the main idea.
3. Write the main idea of the second paragraph in one sentence.

Homework

• Read a passage from the textbook and write its main idea in one sentence.

• List three details from the passage that support your main-idea sentence.
