Unit 1: Formal Letter Writing

Learning Objectives

• Students will identify the parts of a formal letter and state the purpose of each part.

• Students will use polite and formal language appropriate for writing to an authority.

• Students will write a complete formal letter asking for a fee concession.

Key Concepts

• A formal letter is written to an official person or organisation, such as a principal, manager or editor.

• The parts of a formal letter are the sender's address, date, receiver's address, salutation, subject, body, closing and signature.

• The subject line states the purpose of the letter in a few words, such as 'Request for Fee Concession'.

• Formal letters use polite language, short sentences and a respectful tone; slang and contractions are avoided.

• The body of a formal letter usually has three paragraphs: introduction, details of the request, and a polite closing.

Teaching Methodology (Step by Step)

1. The teacher asks students when they might need to write to a principal or a bank manager.

2. The teacher writes a model formal letter on the board and labels each part with the students.

3. The teacher explains the subject line and shows two good and two weak subject lines for comparison.

4. The teacher reads the body paragraphs aloud and points out the polite phrases used in each.

5. The teacher shows common mistakes in formal letters, such as missing the date or using informal greetings.

6. The teacher gives the class a situation — a fee concession request — and builds the letter outline together.

Classroom Activities

• Part hunt: students cut up a jumbled formal letter and arrange its parts in the correct order.

• Fix the letter: students correct the tone and layout mistakes in a badly written letter.

• Write it yourself: students draft a short formal letter to the principal requesting a library card.

Assessment Questions

1. List the parts of a formal letter in their correct order.

2. Write a suitable subject line for a letter asking for a character certificate.

3. Rewrite this informal sentence in formal language: 'I want my fee reduced because my father is poor.'

Homework

• Write a complete formal letter to your college principal requesting a fee concession.

• Write the subject lines for three different formal letters: a job application, a complaint, and a request for leave.
